

The Wild Within is a collection of over 120 photographs that document the rich wildlife in the wetlands of the Washington Park Arboretum, in Seattle, Washington. The images are accompanied by essays and reflections from community members who are inspired by and care deeply for the wetlands, including Governor Dan Evans, Dale Chihuly, Robert Fulghum, William D. Ruckelshaus, and others. Sponsored by the Wetland Alliance, LLC, for the benefit of the Arboretum Foundation, The Wild Within promotes awareness and appreciation of the wetlands of the Arboretum. Through the power of images and words, the aim of the book is to inspire and educate the public about the value of this extraordinary urban ecosystem and, as a result, help to preserve and protect it for the benefit of future generations. Proceeds from the sale of The Wild Within will be contributed to the Arboretum Foundation.
